Current Positions:

Partner, Human Factors Consultants, 1987-present
Professor Emeritus of Psychology, University of Illinois at Chicago, Chicago, Illinois 60680, 1994--present

Marital Status:

Married Lyn Roland Haber.
Children: Sabrina; Rebecca; Eric; Molly.

Forensic Scientist and Expert Witness

Since 1980, I have applied to forensic science my background and scientific training in perception, cognition, recognition and identification, and human factors to analyses of the factors that affect the accuracy of eyewitness memory, testimony and identifications, fingerprint methods and identifications, and the human factors of accidents. I have, with Lyn Haber, consulted with attorneys and judges, offered seminars, published, presented at conferences, and provided expert testimony on the factors that affect accuracy of testimony and identifications. In these areas, we have presented our work to police officers and fingerprint examiners who testify on behavior of the prosecution, and to defense attorneys. For legal clients, our services include consultation with the client, review of existing research, collection of new research if required, preparation of affidavits and reports, and where needed, expert testimony in court. We assist clients representing either defendants or plaintiffs, involved in either civil or criminal cases. I have, with Lyn Haber, written an affidavit in 1990 applying the research evidence on the accuracy of long term memory to memory retrieval, submitted to the U.S. Federal District Court (Northern Illinois) in support of a petitioner. In 2005 we submitted a Brief Amici to the Massachusetts Supreme Court on the scientific basis of fingerprint evidence in support of a petitioner.

Human Factors Consultants Partnership:

I am a partner with my wife, Lyn Haber, in the firm Human Factors Consultants. Together, we provide consultation, reviews of existing scientific research, and we perform new research for legal and business clients and for the government. We also provide expert testimony in court. We specialize in issues involving the application of science to methods (for example, of training, or ways to evaluate hazards, or how best to question a witness), to accuracy (for example, what factors affect the accuracy of memory, of eyewitness identification from a lineup, of fingerprint comparisons, of a child's memory, of a recovered memory); and to assessment (for example, of performance, of the safety of a work environment, of the quantitative success of a training program; requirements and design of warnings). In addition to work involving litigation, for business and governmental clients, we provide human factors expertise in areas of equipment design and operation, development and evaluation of training programs, performance assessment, risk and accident analyses, and cost/benefit analyses of proposed changes in operations.

Fingerprint Comparison Training

I have taken four courses in fingerprint comparison.

24 hr Basic Course taught by Richard Whalley, CLPE, Richard Whalley Associates, San Diego, CA, December, 2002, San Diego, CA.

40 hr. Ridgeology Sciences Workshop (Fingerprint Comparison) Course taught by Kasey Wertheim, CLPE, under auspices of the International Association for Identification. December 1-5, 2003, Santa Ana, CA

40 hr. Basic Forensic Ridgeology (Fingerprint Comparison) Course taught by David Ashbaugh, CLPE, under auspices of the International Association for Identification, January 17-21, 2005, Los Angeles, CA.

16 hr. Scientific Analysis: ACE-V and Daubert, taught by Michele Triplett, CLPE, Supervisor, King County Sheriff Department Fingerprint Laboratory, Seattle, WA., April 5-7, 2010.

Education (Pre-Doctoral)

BA University of Michigan, 1949-1953; Philosophy (with honors)

MA Wesleyan University (Connecticut), 1953-1954, Psychology

Ph.D. Stanford University, 1954-1957, Psychology

Education (Post-Doctoral)

Post-Doctoral Fellow, Applied Psychology Unit, Medical Research Council, Cambridge, England, 1970-1971

Sierra Leadership Training Seminar, Sierra Business Council, Spring, 2002.

Forensic interview training, Harvey Shapiro, Instructor, 20 hours, August, 2005.

Honors: Pre-Doctoral:

University Scholastic Honors, University of Michigan, 1953

Graduated with Honors in Philosophy, University of Michigan, 1953

Behavioral Science Fellowship, Ford Foundation, 1953-1954

Honors Fellowship, Stanford University, 1954-1955

Society of the Sigma Xi, Associate Member, 1954; Full Member, 1957

Honors: Post-Doctoral:

Fellow, American Psychological Association, Div. 3, 1970; Div. 2, 1983

Fellow, American Association for the Advancement of Science, 1971

Special Post-Doctoral Fellowship, USPHS-NIMH, 1970-1971

Outstanding Achievement Award, University of Michigan, 1977

Fellow, Institute of the Humanities, University of Illinois, 1984-1985

Fellow, American Psychological Society, 1988

University Appointments: Pre Ph.D., 1954-1957

Wesleyan University: Research assistant to David McClelland, summers 1954, 1955

Non-University Research and Training and Human Factors Experience

1977-79: Braille reading in the blind: hand movements, skill, training, Strong Memorial Hospital, Rochester, New York

1981-82. US Air Force Research Laboratory, Williams Air Force Base, AZ. Simulated and in-flight training of fighter pilots engaged in ground hugging maneuvers.

1981-1983: US Air Force Research Laboratory, Williams Air Force Base, AZ, and AZ Air National Guard, Tucson, AZ. Development of in-flight fighter pilot training program for low altitude flying.

1982-1985: US Air Force Safety Center, Norton Air Force Base, CA. Investigation of collisions with the ground of fighter aircraft—human factors analyses.

1962-1986: US Air Force Safety Center, Norton Air Force Base, CA. Analysis of task components of air traffic control systems and equipment.

1984-1985: Development of simulated training programs for railway freight locomotive engineers; contract from the Federal Railway Administration (USDOT) to the Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago, IL.

1985. Testing of alerter devices for vigilance of railway engineers. Contract from the Federal Railway Administration (USDOT) to the Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago, IL.

1986. Analysis of the safety of automated subways in the US. Contract from the Urban Mass Transit Authority (USDOT) to the Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago, IL..

1986-1988. Development of a generic training program for railway engineers driving the MX missile trains. Contract from the US Air Force, to the Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago, IL.

1988. Development of certification test for railway freight locomotive engineers. Work under a contract from the Federal Railway Administration.

1988. Analysis of railway dispatching systems of US railways. Contract with the US Air Force, to the Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago, IL.

1988-1993. Navigation of cities by blind travelers. Development of training programs, evaluation of performance. Research supported by the Veterans Administration and the Illinois Institute of Blind Rehabilitation.

1992. Navigation of robotic systems modeled after cognitive maps of blind travelers. Illinois Institute for Blind Rehabilitation.

1991-93. Determinants of the fit of eyewear, measurements of heads of eyewear users, and development of computer software to aid in eyewear design as a function of fit. Contract with the Bausch and Lomb Optical Company, Rochester, NY.

1991-92. Evaluation of human factors issues of in-car navigation systems. Contract with USDOT to the Illinois Transportation Institute.

1995-96. Evaluation of determinants of the fit of foot wear, and athletic gear. Research supported by the Nike Shoe Co, Portland, Oregon.

2002. Member of Leadership Training Seminar, Sierra Business Council.

2001-02. Founder, member of board and first president of the Eastern Sierra Conservancy, Bishop, CA.

2005: Member, Board of Directions, ALIMAR (Andrea Lawrence Institute for Mountains and Rivers)
